Launch of “VOCE” – USB Condenser Microphone

The all-in-one sound recording kit optimized for podcasts and live streams

HONG KONG, 13 November 2020

Tech innovator GELID Solutions unveils the latest USB condenser microphone kit for live streams, podcasts and video narrations. The VOCE is a product of GELID Solutions LIFESTYLE product line.

The VOCE provides the all-in-one sound recording solution to stream your stories online, create audio artworks and voice your podcasts and video narrations in the most engaging way. It comes with a set of professional accessories spanning the flexible boom arm, pop filter and foam windscreen, and offers USB Plug&Play connectivity that allows you to put the microphone in work and start high-quality recordings just in seconds. For superb and clear sound pickup, the VOCE is equipped with the 16mm condenser capsule featuring cardioid polar pattern to suppress any noise from behind the microphone. Thanks to its precision electronic circuit, the VOCE also boasts high sensitivity, high signal-to-noise ratio and wide frequency response in the range 20Hz to 20kHz effectively eliminating crossover and harmonic distortions. The sampling rate 16bit/48kHz is optimized for voice capture and delivers universal compatibility with most audio applications on desktops, laptops and smartphones. Additionally, the sturdy all-metallic build adds to comprehensive protection of the microphone core and guarantees reliable acoustic input and durable operation.

“VOCE is super simple and easy to start with. It gives exceptional sound quality, and thanks to its plug&play nature, you don’t have to be an engineer to enjoy your streams. You can push your energy into the content, not the recording setup”, said Gebhard Scherrer, Sales Director of GELID Solutions Ltd.

The VOCE is available now and has a MSRP of USD 53.99 or Euro 45.99.
